

Challenge Weekly Newsletter

---

Special Story

---

's Final Words Recovered From Shredded Bits of Paper

---

In Social Studies on Thursday, unanimous reported a final letter shredded on the floor. After the closing of the crime scene and the immediate arrival of the police, investigators rushed to find out what the note was. After examining the crime scene and interviewing numerous suspects, the investigators concluded two things: First, the letter was in transit for multiple days, shown by the crumpled and miscolored surface. Second, the receiver went into a wild rage once they got the message. Once the police arrived, the crime scene had been tampered with, and the destruction was mostly reversed. Though after interviewing multiple suspects, the investigators concluded much more damage had been done. One witness said: "At first, the noise started small with many grunts, but then grew to noise only comparable to a tornado." And you wouldn't have known it wasn't a tornado. Another witness said, "Imagine throwing heaps and heaps of stuff all around the room."

Now multiply that by 5, and you have the room at that moment.” Investigators are still looking into who is responsible for the damage. But what is on the letter, you may ask? Well, after multiple hours of piecing back together the note, the detectives came up with this:

“Dear [REDACTED], I’m sorry I said I didn’t care about you and I catfished you. I said I didn’t care about you because I was upset. I catfished all of you as a joke that we could look back on and laugh about it later. I didn’t want for it to get to the point that everyone hates me. I feel really bad for it. I’m so sorry for the pain I caused you. I feel horrible for what I did. I will never forgive myself, just know I’m deeply sorry.

Sincerely, [REDACTED]”

---

Weekly News

---

New Year's Rung in by Dropping the Ball (on people)

This New Year’s ball drop took a dark turn when the ball fell on 12 people, killing them instantly. The FBI said, “This was no accident. While we can’t be sure, we believe the Hot Chocolate Death Squad may have carried out this attack.” When asked what their motivation would have been, Kash Patel (director of the FBI) cited their narrow defeat in their war against domination of the Christmas beverage industry a few weeks earlier

---

Green Bean Monster Chases Trucker for Almost 60 Miles

Bill Billybob, a trucker for Green Bean Inc., reported being pursued by the green bean monster for 58 miles along a lonely Nevada highway. His dashcam captured footage of the beast leaping in front of his semi before trying to grab onto it, and narrowly missing. Billybob then sped up and was chased by the monster for close to 60 miles before it finally gave up.

See the footage >HERE<

---

Catastrophic Earthquake, Fictional Dog, Kidnaps 17 Children from 6th Grade Challenge

Gidget White, the creator and illustrator of the dog, filed a missing persons report on January 8th after discovering that her dog and young grandchildren were missing from the shed where they were kept. “After going in to feed them the pineapple skins,” (She lives on a pineapple farm even though she hates pineapple), “I noticed that Catastrophic Earthquake was missing, so were the kids, I guess, and I immediately broke down in sobs. We had murd- saved many children together, and he meant the world to me!” Unfortunately, Gidget was arrested later that day after extensive forensic evidence was found in the shed. The dog still hasn’t been found, so please, be on high alert.

---

Jaxton breaks out of POW camp!

The U.S. Military captured our favourite alcoholic ghost over break for committing several war crimes. They put him through the equivalent of marines bootcamp for kids. They took away his phone. They weren’t able to hold him for long as he broke out and took his phone after just six days. After he escaped, it was rumoured that he stayed at a Holiday Inn Express filled with only chocolate families and then ate all of them. We have reporters on the scene trying to gain more information.

---

Economics

---

More than 20 Horrid Images Leaked From Dogs® LLC.

As many of you may know, upwards of 20 disturbing images of deformed dogs were accidentally released this Wednesday, leading to a massive drop in this company's stocks. Experts say they may not recover from this blow.

The cartels aare up!

After Emersons visit to mexico there has been a huge increase in sales bu the cartel jumping from 200 sales a week to 1200!

---

Obituaries

---

Ben Dunham Dies at 14

After procrastinating copiously on NHD (Having typed 2 ½ words at Christmas break), Ben Dunham was sentenced to death. Unfortunately, he escaped after leaving the courthouse. Thankfully, a hitman successfully hunted him down four hours later and attempted to capture him, killing him in the process. His loss might be mourned. Even his ghost is continuing to frustrate his groupmates.

---

Out of Context Quotes

---

- From Christmas Break
  - “First, we find out if it’s toxic, then we start a drug empire” -Bennett
  - “*Starts raining* Oh, you’re wet now” -James ~ “Who says I wasn’t before!” -Parker
  - “Oops, asbestos” -Jaron
- Wednesday
  - “Allalalalala’s” -Jacob (referring to Alleles)
  - “Oh, denial and anger, you’re really going places” -James
  - “What is it’s fuh fuh fuh?” -Mrs Bavor
  - “I’ve got a kid throwing feces off the balcony” -GJHS counselor ~ “Why are you throwing feces, Jacob?” -Kyden
- Thursday
  - “Goopy meats” -Zarian

- “Breaking news! There was an earthquake at your mother’s house last night! Witnesses say there were no survivors” -[Redacted]
- “So in that case my husband would be... wait no! I meant to say my father!” -[Redacted]
- “This dog looks so deformed” -Elliot
- “Pour the hot furry femboys into the jar (Or something)” -Ben
- “If yes is no and once is never, then a triangle has two sides” -Quincy
- “I’M not a DEMON! You’re a Psychopath!” -Khiana
- “The average noise you hear in Florida” -Jax
- “Remember the anything, when the anything happened?”-Austin
- “I’m totally down for that”-Will (about the death of Ben)
- “I got a whiff of special dragon delight”-Remington
- “That’s like saying, ‘I killed your mother so we could laugh about it in 20 years’”-James
- Friday
  - “Go back to Mexico Emerson” -Mr. Rabito
  - “I just love how my new password has three capital K’s in it”-Emerson
  - “It’s a good thing there are a lot of kids. They make good fuel”-James
  - “Please, Judge, I want to go to prison!”-Marek